is pleased to announce the

2016-2017 ALVIN F. POUSSAINT, MD VISITING LECTURESHP

“Does it Really Matter?
Cognitive Technologies, Thinking and Time”

This talk aims to stimulate thinking in a discussion of three independent but related threads:
(1) New frontiers in computing systems (cognitive computing or artificial intelligence),
(2) The need to develop alternative ways of thinking and viewing the world, and
(3) Apertures of opportunities in time for minority and diverse health professionals in training.

Martín-J. Sepúlveda, MD, MPH (HMS ’78)
IBM Fellow; Member, National Academy of Medicine;
Chief Executive Officer, Claraluz, LLC;
former Vice President of Health Systems and Policy Research, and Vice President of Integrated Health Services, IBM Corp.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 6, 2016
2:30 - 3:30 PM
Lecture | Reception to Follow
Tosteson Medical Education Center, Room 227
260 Longwood Avenue, Boston | Harvard Medical School

RSVP by Thursday, December 1, 2016: www.surveymonkey.com/r/AFPVL2016-2017
Questions? Contact Terésa Carter via email (teresa_carter@hms.harvard.edu) or phone (617-432-4697).
2016 - 2017
ALVIN F. POUSSAINT, MD VISITING LECTURER

Martín-J. Sepúlveda MD, MPH (HMS’78)
IBM Fellow; Member, National Academy of Medicine; Chief Executive Officer, Claraluz, LLC; former Vice President of Health Systems and Policy Research, and Vice President of Integrated Health Services, IBM Corp.

Martín-J. Sepúlveda, MD, FACP, FAAP, FACOEM is an IBM Fellow, Member of the National Academy of Medicine and CEO of CLARALUZ LLC an advisory and project consulting firm specializing in health data, analytics, technology, health and health systems. He had a distinguished career in the IBM Corporation serving in numerous capacities including Vice President of Health Systems and Policy Research and Vice President of Integrated Health Services. He led health policy, strategy, health benefits, services and operations, occupational health and well-being for IBM globally. He is widely recognized for contributions in public and population health, private sector health care, wellness and health benefits innovation. He led private sector collaboration with clinicians for medical home transformation leading to formation of the Patient Centered Primary Care Collaborative.

Dr. Sepúlveda received his MD and MPH degrees from Harvard University, and earned his BA, magna cum laude, from Yale University. He completed residencies in internal medicine at UCSF Hospitals, and occupational/environmental medicine at the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health. He trained in the Epidemic Intelligence Service of the U.S. Centers for Disease Control, and completed a fellowship in internal medicine at the University of Iowa Hospitals and Clinics. Dr. Sepúlveda serves on several boards including the American Board of Internal Medicine Foundation and the New York Academy of Medicine.