How to be an Advocate and Ally
Our safety and comfort in the workplace has a direct impact on our health and wellness as individuals and as a community. Join Alicia Oeser, Director of the Office of Sexual Assault Prevention and Response at Harvard University, as we discuss the ways that gender inequities, racism, heterosexism and transphobia intersect in the workplace and how they may impact the mission of our schools. We will discuss our individual role in creating a better environment for everyone. This session is geared toward staff who would like to explore their role in creating a culture of inclusion, equity and respect.
Time: 12:00 PM – 1:00 PM
Location: Armenise Amphitheater, Harvard Medical School
